Visit Of Faure, Pinay To Russia Is Postponed

Meeting Called Off Due To U.N. Vote; French Quit Assembly

PARIS (AP)—The French Foreign Office announced today the proposed visit of Premier Edgar Faure and Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay to Moscow has been postponed.

The Foreign Ministry said the French government thought it preferable to put off the Oct. 14 visit to a later date. The explanation was that the government considers, in view of recent events in the United Nations and the reaction of French opinion, the atmosphere is not favorable now for a trip of this type.

Russia voted with the majority last Friday in a 28-7 vote in the U. N. General Assembly to debate troubles in Algeria. France insists Algeria is an integral part of France and Assembly debate about it would be a violation of the U. N. charter provision barring interference in the internal affairs of any member state.

As a result of the vote, the French government withdrew its delegation to the Assembly, and also its permanent delegation, but kept one foot in the U. N. door.

The Cabinet Sunday night announced withdrawal of its U. N. delegation and an end to participation in all activities of the international organization except those of the Security Council, its Disarmament Commission and subcommittee and its Military Staff Committee.

By remaining in the Security Council, France kept her preferred position as one of the five veto-holding permanent members.

The bitter decisions were taken as bloody fighting broke out anew in Morocco, the most restless of France's North African territories.

Seek To End Columbiana Russell Strike

COLUMBIANA—Representatives of the F. C. Russell Co. and Local 3790, United Steelworkers of America (CIO), have scheduled a meeting for 1:30 p. m. today at Heck's Restaurant in an effort to end a strike called at the company's local plant at midnight Friday.

Workers walked off their jobs after the union's contract with the company expired and the firm and union failed to agree on another one. According to Ross Joseph of Salem, union local president, the union is asking the basic steel wage increase of 1 1/2 cents an hour, while the company offered 5 1/2 cents.

William Tucker, executive vice president of the firm, Saturday accused the Youngstown district office of the United Steelworkers of insisting on using the basic steel wage increase as a pattern for contracts with fabricators, contrary to national policy. Tucker said: "Our Columbiana plant is closed by strike action of the United Steelworkers of America because the F. C. Russell Co. is not as relatively successful as 'big steel'."

"Ability to pay was the theme in winning 15 cents from 'big steel.' Lack of ability to pay is the reason the F. C. Russell Co. cannot meet the 'big steel' pattern."

"The Youngstown district Steelworkers office has taken the position that no contracts may be signed in this district except on the 'big steel' pattern. When this position is changed to conform to that of the national office (union) and other regional districts and the negotiators are permitted to enter into true collective bargaining, a settlement beneficial to all concerned can be effected."

"Financial data is available to the union and we stand ready to negotiate at any time," Tucker concluded.

Some 200 union members of 250 employed at the plant are idled. Pickets are patrolling the gates.

Berber Tribes Attack French

11 Europeans Slain In Guerrilla Battle

RABAT, French Morocco (AP)—Berber tribesmen were reported in retreat in the Atlas Mountains today after a series of weekend guerrilla attacks in eastern Morocco and along the Spanish Moroccan frontier.

French authorities said 11 Europeans, including three women and two children, were slain in a ferocious attack at Immuouzer-Des-Mar mouchas, 65 miles southeast of Fez.

Several hundred Berbers in the band of 2,000 were reported killed before the Tribesmen began their retreat in the face of French tanks, planes and troops. The tribesmen were friendly to the Sultan who left his throne Saturday.

Four other outposts defended by Moroccans in French uniform were attacked Saturday night and Sunday and two were temporarily given up by the French.

The outbreaks came on the heels of Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat's departure from his palace in Rabat to villa in the international zone of Tangier.

His going was the first step in a French plan to meet the demands of nationalists in the turbulent protectorate.

The guerrilla attacks in the eastern Atlas Mountains and near the border with Spanish Morocco were the first serious outbreaks since the uprising of Berber tribesmen Aug. 2 in which more than 100 French and 1,000 Moroccans died.

$1,140 Is Stolen In Tavern Burglary

The theft of $1,140 from Rodi's Tavern at 180 W. State St. over the weekend was reported to police this morning by Odess Paparodis, manager.

He said entry was gained by cutting a hole in the door glass. The money was in a desk drawer which was pried open by the thieves.

Charles Snyder of 1813 E. State told police someone entered the home at 259 S. Broadway sometime Saturday night and ransacked the rooms. It was not determined whether anything had been taken.

Frank Bazidlo of RD 5, Egypt Road, reported to police Sunday morning that someone rolled down a window of his car parked in a driveway on S. Ellsworth Ave. and stole a $25 camera between midnight and 1 a. m. Sunday.

Carrollton Police Cruiser Kills Man, 65

J. E. Snively Victim; Vehicle Was Chasing Traffic Violator

Joseph E. Snively, 65, of RD 1, Sunday at 10:25 p. m. on Rt. 9, just north of the Carroll County village, when he was struck by a Carrollton police cruiser which was in pursuit of a traffic light violator.

Snively died of a fractured skull. The driver of the cruiser, Patrolman Robert Robson, was not held. Carroll County Sheriff Richard Deckman, who conducted an investigation of the mishap, said Snively evidently stepped in front of the cruiser without warning. They termed the accident "unavoidable."

Violator Not Apprehended

The traffic violator being chased by Robson when the mishap occurred was not apprehended.

A native of Carroll County, Snively had lived in the Augusta Township vicinity all his life.

A livestock dealer, he was a member of the Carrollton American Legion and the Harsh Reformed Church.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lester Lucas of the home; two brothers, Jack of Carrollton and Thomas of Augusta; one granddaughter; three stepchildren, Mrs. Thomas Kinsey Jr. of Augusta, Pa., and George Wirebaugh of Hollywood, Fla.; and nine stepchildren.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday at 3 p. m. at the Sweeney Funeral Home in Carrollton, with Rev. Roland Reese officiating. Burial will be in Augusta Cemetery.

Friends may call Tuesday afternoon and evening at the funeral home.

Ground Needs Rain Before Winter Begins

Two or three inches of steady rain is needed before winter sets in because of the low water table in the area, L. H. Copland, Columbiana County weather observer, said today.

Rain was recorded only on three days during September and the severe drought was caused with the absence of rain from Aug. 23 to Sept. 22.

Total precipitation for September was 1.36 inches as compared to the normal of 2.94 inches. In September, 1954 the rain fell to a level of 2.10 inches. Wettest September was 1926 with 2.50 inches, while the driest was in 1936 with .89 inches.

In many areas, Copland says, farmers are being forced to haul water for livestock. In October, 1954, rain equalling the 8.82 inch level was produced. A like amount is needed this year, he says.

Planting of wheat is going forward in a well-prepared seed bed and the corn is safe from a killing frost, although a field of corn in the shock is almost a curiosity today, Copland notes.

Subnormal temperatures have been evident in the area every month this year with the exception of January and June.

Two droughts in one year is an unusual occurrence, Copland avers, but also adds that regardless of the "strange" weather, all crops were good. Corn and vegetables have been the hardest hit by drought, pastures are short, and livestock have been fed extra rations.

Temperatures for September is 65.8 degrees as compared to 64.5 in 1954, with a normal temperature of 63 degrees. The coolest September was in 1918 when the thermometer read 56, while the warmest was in 1921 with a 67.3 degrees.

September had 80 per cent sunshine as compared to 1954 with a normal 70 per cent, Copland reports.

Quaker City Bus Damaged By Fire

PINAY TAKES A WALK—French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay leaves his New York City hotel for an unspecified destination shortly after he led a walkout of the French delegation to the United Nations after the U.N. voted to place discussion of the nationalist uprising in Algeria on its agenda. Premier Edgar Faure has ordered France's entire United Nations delegation to return home in retaliation for the United Nations' decision, according to a government spokesman.

Scheele Says Vaccine Reduces Polio By 50 Per Cent Or More

DETROIT (AP)—Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele said today preliminary reports indicate the Salk antipolio vaccine has reduced the incidence of paralytic polio among vaccinated children by 50 per cent or more.

"It is difficult not to be very optimistic about the value of the vaccine as used this year," Scheele said.

In a talk to the Economic Club of Detroit, Scheele said the vaccine's apparent curb on paralytic polio is all the more notable because many of the youngsters studied had received only one shot instead of the recommended three.

"It is reasonable to expect even greater protection when the full course of immunization is completed," he said.

Speaking of studies in nearly half the states of all children 5 to 10 years of age, Scheele said:

"Early reports from six areas show that paralytic attack rates among vaccinated children are strikingly lower than among unvaccinated children of the same ages. In almost all reporting areas, these reductions are 50 per cent or greater."

Reporting on the vaccine's effect on all types of polio—paralytic and nonparalytic—Scheele repeated this preliminary finding made public Saturday by the department of welfare:

"The number of reported cases . . . among the 7 million vaccinated children throughout the United States is now running 25 to 50 per cent below the incidence expected without vaccination in the same age groups."

While emphasizing that the findings were tentative, Scheele said "there is little likelihood that we shall see any major departure from the favorable trends I have reported among vaccinated children, at least in the near future."

Republicans Plan Oct. 24 Meeting

Five representatives of the local Republican women's group who attended the 16th annual fall convention of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organization last weekend at Columbus were Miss Elma Auld, local president; Mrs. J. W. Asty, Mrs. Matt Meltschka, Mrs. H. H. Wilkinson, and Mrs. Mary E. Robinson.

New Anxiety Stirs Over His Condition

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower "slept soundly" for more than seven hours Sunday night after his physicians had reported him "a little tired" and not feeling "as well as usual."

The doctor's bulletin at 8:55 p. m. (MST) Sunday stirred new anxiety over the chief executive's condition and brought to an abrupt end the string of encouraging reports which had come from the hospital more than a week.

Since last Monday morning bulletins released by the White House had reported the President sleeping "comfortably," "good" or "continuously" from 8 to 10 hours a night.

Last Friday the bulletin described the President's night as "excellent," the first time that phrase had been used. Previous reports had said Eisenhower's nights were "comfortable" or "very comfortable."

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, and other physicians have said all along that the first two weeks after Eisenhower's coronary thrombosis would be the crucial period. They have said that complications could come any time during those first 14 days.

Examination Not Complete
At 8:50 a. m. today, presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty telephoned from the hospital that because Eisenhower had slept later than usual, the doctors' morning examination had not yet been completed. He added that until it had been concluded there would be no formal bulletin on the President's condition.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced a few minutes after 7 a. m. today that the bulletin usually issued at that hour would be delayed because the President was sleeping later than usual. Word came a few minutes later that he had awakened at 7:10 a. m.

From Fitzsimons Army Hospital Hagerty sent this statement to newsmen:

"The President went to sleep tonight at 8:45 p. m. He slept soundly until 4:25 a. m., when he awoke."

"At that time his temperature and pulse were checked and found to be normal."

"He went back to sleep within the half hour and is presently sleeping."

Hagerty explained that the President's physicians decided it would be better not to awaken him, to assure him maximum rest.

Eisenhower received a sedative, second, before retiring for the night. No additional dose was given to him when he awakened at 4:25 a. m.

Sunday night's bulletin said this: "The President is a little tired this evening and did not feel as well as usual. Otherwise his condition is good. His temperature, pulse and blood pressure are normal."

It was the 35th Fitzsimons Army Hospital bulletin on Eisenhower's condition since he entered there a week ago last Saturday—and the first, since the early hours after his "moderate" heart attack that day, that failed to report he was making satisfactory progress "without complications."

Newsmen asked James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, whether the change in the President's condition could be considered a "setback."

"I am not going beyond what I said," Hagerty replied in allusion to the medical bulletin he has just read to reporters, or beyond "what the doctors have given me."

Nor would he say whether the change amounted to development of complications.

"How can I?" Hagerty asked. "All I can say is what is in the (medical) bulletin."

As soon as the change in Eisenhower's condition came, his hospital physician telephoned Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston, one of the world's foremost heart specialists, to report the development.

"It makes us suspicious that there may be something behind it," the doctor said.

The exercise was a test of the abilities of radar crews and the Ground Observer Corps.

No. 7—Punishment Can Be Constructive Parenthood Without Hokum

By HOWARD WHITMAN

How about listening to the youngsters themselves? In investigating child-care and particularly the business of discipline and punishment, the ones at the receiving end ought to have their chance in the witness box.

At the Baton Rouge Junior High School in Louisiana I met with five youngsters — Diana, 13, Melba, 13, Rosemary, 11, Harry, 13, and Kirk 14 — and listened while they talked. Here are excerpts from the dialogue:

Rosemary—Well children should have freedom, but I don't think to run around at all hours.

Diana—I'd like the family to be sort of a club. You know, democratic, so that everybody had an equal voice.

Harry — Not me, I don't think they should all have the same voice. The parents know much more. All I want is for them to understand how the child feels.

Kirk — I think what a child needs is strong parents.

Diana — Well, I know another girl, she's 13, and she tells her parents off and they take it. I don't like that.

Melba — I'd rather have my parents lead me and correct me. I think a good idea is to have flexible rules — but not too flexible. I mean we want to know what we can do and what we can't do. Even if we break a rule we want to know we broke it. Otherwise, when parents say, "You should have known better" how are we going to know?

Harry — I think when you do something wrong there should be some punishment, but not too much.

Kirk — Oh, I don't think even if a father uses the old rx-on-strop it's not going to hurt anybody.

Diana — But won't it make the child afraid of the parent?

Kirk — It'll just make him not do it again.

Diana — Wouldn't it make him resent his parents?

Kirk — Maybe for a short time. He might say, "I'll never love them anymore" — but after a couple of hours, it's okay.

Melba — I think it makes you understand what you've done wrong. And you know what your parents do is for your own good.

Harry — If a child isn't punished, pretty soon he begins to say, "I can get away with anything." I know a kid who burned up the neighbor's newspaper on the front porch and sliced the screen door with a knife. He's got to know that that isn't play.

I interrupted to ask a question — "Suppose the parents didn't believe in punishment at all?"

Harry — I guess they could raise their children all right. But I don't know how they're going to turn out.

Kirk — All I can say is, if we hadn't had any we'd all be little gangsters.

THESE CHILDREN, and any others you care to talk with, seem in their spontaneous feelings to reflect a number of the insights which the professionals in child-care are taking hold of today. After decades of laissez-faire, when discipline was regarded as a naughty word and punishment as "medieval" and "sadistic," the leaders of sociology and psychology today are following a different course.

They recognize (as children have all along) that youngsters have a need for discipline and that even that nasty old word "punishment" can have a constructive, beneficial meaning.

Today punishment is not seen as vengeance; it is an instrument of teaching. Dr. Gunnar Dybwad, director of the Child Study Association of America, summarized the new approach as follows:

"In recent years we have been speaking of punishment only as something to be avoided. We have been afraid of the very word because of a prejudice against it. No one has written of punishment in a positive way — one of our troubles is that people have been afraid ever to pronounce the word 'punishment'."

"But now we will use the word 'punish' again and will not be afraid of it. For we will see that punishment can be constructive."

In this, the social sciences are at last catching up with the Bible. Without scientific terminology, with neither statistics nor surveys, the Book of Proverbs (13:24) simply states, "...he that loveth (his son) chasteneth him betimes."

IT IS SIGNIFICANT that the word "chasten" is employed here for this means: "to correct by punishment; to purify by freeing from faults." It is thus clear that the Bible from earliest times viewed punishment as constructive, its purpose not vengeful but helpful, designed to free the child from faults and better to prepare him for a happy life.

The hot stove is an example of constructive punishment. If you touch it, it burns you. Thus you learn at an early age not to touch a hot stove. The punishment is part of the act itself—and you save yourself a lot of burned fingers.

If parents are to use punishment constructively for their children's good, Dr. Dybwad suggests five guide points:

1. Punishment should have a time relationship to the wrongful act. If a 14-year-old girl comes home late from a dance, the parent can impose the punishment of staying home from the next dance. But with a three-year-old, there can be no such time lapse. If he is punished an hour after the wrongful act he may already miss the connection between it and the punishment. Thus the educational value is lost.

2. A subject relationship makes punishment more constructive. If a child has messed up his sister's room, a logical punishment is to clean it up. If a child has broken a window, not by accident but wrongfully, a related punishment might be to do enough chores to earn money to pay for it.

Even spanking may have a subject relationship. If a child's misbehavior has taken the form of physical violence—such as beating up his little brother—then the physical force of a spanking might well meet the time-honored requirement of letting the punishment fit the crime.

3. The dignity of the child should be preserved. No matter what form a punishment may take, it always must hinge upon the fact that one continues to love the child as much as ever. It is the wrongdoing which is not loved. And the child must understand this.

4. The parent-child relationship must remain undamaged. Naturally, no child is going to like punishment any more than the parent likes administering it. But if the parent can help his child to see that punishment is part of the duty of parenthood, that, in effect, "I punish you because I love you" then the child will feel neither rejected nor unworthy because of it. He will accept punishment as "what's coming to him" and will recognize that his parents administer it out of loyalty.

5. If punishment is necessary, then punish—but don't perpetually threaten to do so. The constant threat of punishment makes a child unsure of just where he stands. A punishment quickly and decisively administered does far more good than the overworked line, "Johnny, if you do that again, I swear I'm going to—"

IN THE NON-PUNISHMENT era we went overboard in letting children express or "act out" whatever they wanted to; we didn't want them to be "repressed." But we have been surprised—and shocked—to see that some of the acting out is worse than the repression.

Today a healthy balance is being sought. At the Children's Village, a

Merit Scholarships

By DARRELL MANSELL

Youths Of High Ability Will Attend College

The most significant new idea in education this fall for parents, students, educators and the nation as a whole is the National Merit Scholarship Corp.

This brand new, independent, nonprofit corporation in Evanston, Ill., is beginning the most intensive educational talent search in history next Oct. 26, with a view to spending at least a million dollars a year to send young men and women to colleges and universities.

The corporation is opening for business with two and a half million dollars from the Ford and Carnegie Foundations to cover all operating expenses, ten million dollars from the Ford Foundation for underwriting education costs, plus still another eight million from the Ford Foundation to match additional grants from other sources. The potential growth of the scholarship corp. is almost beyond imagination.

Its first step in the October talent search will be preliminary college aptitude testing of the top 5 per cent of senior students in upward of 25,000 secondary schools in the United States on Oct. 26.

Public and private schools that want to cooperate in the search must first be enrolled in the corporation. This is done by applying to National Merit Scholarship Program, Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau St., Princeton, N.J., for entry forms. These must be filled out by the school principal and returned to Princeton by Oct. 14, to allow time for shipment of test materials in time for the Oct. 26 aptitude tests. Two students may take the tests if the high-school senior class numbers fewer than 40.

TESTS ARE TO be given at 9 a.m. on Oct. 26. Each participating school will receive a report of the performance of its participants, and highest scorers will be notified early in December.

They will then become eligible to take the scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board on Jan. 14, 1956. High test scorers in this test will be notified about March 1. Then will be asked for further information on their personal affairs. Final winners—about 200—will be chosen by a special board.

So far, nothing will have been said about financial need. At this point, the winners will be asked about their families' financial ability to send them to college. If there are no money problems involved, the winners will be certified as National Merit Scholars with a nominal financial grant of $100.

If there are money problems, however, these will be worked out by the Scholarship Corp. That is its reason for coming into existence.

Students winning merit scholarships can choose their own schools and courses, within broad limit. The schools they choose then will receive supplemental grants equal to the tuition they charge, except that tuition plus the supplemental grant may not exceed $1,500 per year.

This arrangement not only helps students with a high aptitude for education but helps the colleges of their choice to underwrite the cost of their education.

Certificates of merit will be given to 800 students who reach the final stage of competition but do not win scholarships, thereby bringing these students to the attention of other scholarship donors.

THIS IS THE MOST far-reaching program ever devised to find young persons responsive to education and to give them a powerful incentive to make something of their potentialities.

There is no shortage of college students in the United States. Colleges are faced with a shortage of facilities and teachers even more serious than that faced by elementary and high schools.

But there is a threatened shortage of exceptional talent among college students because there has been no systematic way to discover exceptional students and to help those unable to pay their own way.

The National Merit Scholarship Corp., by going into secondary schools with a well defined program for locating aptitude for advanced education, believes it is pioneering in a field of tremendous opportunity.

It believes that with the cooperation of secondary schools, the program can help develop America's greatest natural resource—the talent of youth.

"Operation of the National Merit Scholarship Corp. will make possible a truly national competition," explains John M. Stalnaker, its president. "It will inspire many youths of high ability, other than the winners, with the desire to obtain a college education, thereby improving their own prospects in life and increasing the number of potential leaders in our national scene."

"It will direct the attention of colleges and universities to this large pool of exceptionally talented youth, as proper objects for their interest and assistance. And it provides, for all corporations, a means of unified support of a strong scholarship program, in which their own interests and identities are assured of protection, and in which every dollar contributed will be expended directly for the scholarship aid of the selected student and the institution he attends."

Indestructible Reos

By TRUMAN TWILL

A financial transaction with a nostalgic twinge has been announced, whereby Reo Holding Corp. will be absorbed into Nuclear Consultants. Reo Holding Corp. is all that remains of R. E. Olds Co., organized in 1904, as the namesake of Ransom E. Olds, a pioneer auto manufacturer.

And why the nostalgia? Because of the Reo, the almost indestructible product of the Reo Motor Car Co., which prospered greatly as a result of public satisfaction.

Its success was due to other distinctive qualities of its product as the automobile age outgrew the horseless carriage stage and went into high gear. Those of us who broke in at the wheels of Reos always will remember them kindly.

From the famous "bathtub" Reo sixes that were among the largest seven-passenger cars every built, down through the years to the last of the "Flying Clouds" that came along at the end of the Jazz Age, there were no soft places in the Reo line.

Our family owned and prized one of the first hard-top convertibles, a masterpiece of Reo design that featured wooden window frames which could be removed in warm weather for that prized in side-out effect. In case of summer rains, a set of pull-around side curtains could be let down out of a little cupboard in the ceiling.

We also owned and prized even more highly one of the famous Reo trucks that hastened the coming of the era of over-the-highway transportation after World War I. They were called "Speedwagons."

That "Speedwagon" was the family's bread and butter for many years. On still nights, if you listen, you can still hear it thumping over razor-backed roads with its cut-out open. All early Reos had cutouts, which could be opened by tugging a little wire which opened an aperture between the engine and the muffler and split the heavens with a deep-throated roar.

We do not know what happened to all those Reo Speedwagons. But we do know they never wore out. Perhaps they finally were melted up to make something else, to get rid of them.

One other thing about the early Reos is memorable—their ingenious clutch-brake arrangements. The same left-hand pedal disengaged the clutch and put on the brake when it was depressed. The right-hand pedal was the parking and emergency brake. Still another Reo innovation, which appeared at the depth of the depression, was an automatic transmission that did away with shifting. But the timing was bad, because in 1933 no one was interested in new devices on new automobiles.

Until our first Reo, no one in our family would have been willing to bet the automobile was here to stay. Afterward, it was a cinch the automobile was going to stay as long as the Reos, which were built to last forever.

That must have been the trouble. They must have lasted too long.

A Fellow Could Get Hurt Around Here

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Word is that 1956 will be the labor-management world's year—the drive for the biggest payoffs in history. Word is that the unions will campaign to have "the boss" pay for heavy insurance against the terrific medical costs of heart attacks, cancer, tuberculosis and cerebral strokes.

Word is that labor will in '56 be fighting for a $10-a-week increase, a guarantee of unemployment insurance the year round and a 32 to 35-hour week for those who work.

So 1956 may be a year of head-on strikes for these demands—if the predictions from inside labor come through.

A few weeks ago it would have been safe to forecast that the White House would remain neutral through all this. Now that's not certain. Already in the distant shadows of the national political stage forces are lining up for a civil war over White House labor policy now that President Eisenhower is in no position to make day-by-day decisions on labor crises.

EVER SINCE the time when Gen. Dwight Eisenhower returned from Europe during a national steel strike and told some of us that he would have been neutral in such a labor-management showdown, he has kept to that policy. He has done so even in appointments to special committees and in the treatment of his worst labor critic—The CIO's chief, Walter Reuther.

Typical is Reuther's experience in Rome recently. The CIO president flew into the Italian capital and planned a press conference at the Haegler Hotel. Our foreign service people informed the American wire services and correspondents as well as the Italian newsmen. Reuther characteristically blasted the Italian industrialists, which, of course, clashed sharply with our official government attitude.

Yet he received every courtesy of the diplomatic service of a Republican administration which he has been denouncing.

TYPICAL, TOO, is the fact that the Voice of America broadcast Reuther's Labor Day speech to the world. This was at a time when the CIO president was bitterly attacking the White House and his political colleague, Jack Kroll, head of the PAC, was charging Ike and his colleagues with corruption.

Former top CIO officials today hold high posts in many embassies and many CIO leaders, including Reuther and his brother Victor, have been consulted by Ike's cabinet members. This, of course, goes for the AFL people as well.

During some tough strikes the White House has kept all government departments—including the Defense Department—strictly neutral, much to the chagrin of many Republicans.

THESE GOPERS believe that the Pentagon should have moved in in some of the crises to get production started by pressuring the unions as the Roosevelt-Truman administrations had pressured industry.

Now the nation is faced either with the possibility that President Eisenhower may step down, or that his physicians will order him to recuperate at Gettysburg for many months. At any rate, if the President returns to his desk, he will be forced to slash the number of issues which he will permit to reach him.

Barring a national upheaval, such as the shutting down of the coal fields, the steel mills, the power houses or the railroads, Ike will probably shift the making of labor policy into "channels"—which means Secretary of Labor James Mitchell. Many in Washington and in the cabinet itself feel that Mitchell is too friendly personally and professionally with union leaders and is, in effect, just this side of Harry Truman in his Republicanism.

THE ANTI-MITCHELL bloc in the cabinet believe that with White House labor power in his hands Mitchell will try to bring the administration even closer to the nation's labor chiefs and would move into every labor crisis more sympathetic to labor than to industry.

The anti-Mitchell people see the labor secretary as a sort of latter day John Steelman, Harry Truman's labor adviser.

So with 1956's crises upcoming and billions of dollars at stake in the major industries, the more conservative members of the administration and Vice President Richard Nixon himself are preparing to battle Mitchell for control of White House labor policy.

Britain and the Jackpot

('England is considering a version of 'The $64,000 Question,' with five hundred pounds as top prize.' —News item.)

Ladies and gentlemen we now introduce a deucedly costly program, quite startling if one considers the general economic picture, if I may say so. This is the Five Hundred Pound Question. Our first contestant is Nigel Nottinghamshire. Despite the vast sum we are giving away try to be calm and rational. What category do you select, Mr. Nottinghamshire? Might I suggest British Explorations in the Nile Country?

A—Might I take baseball, guv'nor.

MC—No, that wouldn't be cricket. Suppose we compromise on painting the emuse?

A—O, I say, I'm not up to Winston and Noel you know. I'm just a draper's clerk. How about letting me take a turn at military history?

MC—Excellent idea. My first question for five pounds is who was Lord Kitchener? No, on second thought I shall let you have the five pounds, as it would be quite embarrassing to the British educational system if you didn't know the gentleman. I'll give you another: What British general achieved fame at Waterloo for ten pounds?

A—Blimey. I didn't know we ever got a general to go there for ten pounds, guv'nor.

MC—The longer this program lasts, my good fellow, the more skeptical I am about borrowing programs from overseas. Suppose, we eliminate the preliminary interrogations and hasten to the James-Pot, as I think it is called in America. For one hundred pounds name eight Derby winners, the dates they were foaled and the weights of four of the jockeys.

A—I say, guv'nor, couldn't I take cooking like that chap in the States who got $64,000 for knowing what the King and Queen ate at a certain dinner?

MC—Do you know much about cooking, my good man?

A—No, but I resent the tourists' charge that nobody in England knows much about cooking.

MC—I'm frightfully sorry we went into this sort of TV show at all, but I suppose we must continue. This program must be on a higher plane. I have received a message from the Prime Minister expressing regret at the enormous money involved and suggesting that you retire to your domicile and think things over until next Tuesday. Not only that, but he suggests that I go home and do likewise. For two hundred pounds, Nottinghamshire, what do you say if we both quit and terminate this unprecedented extravagance of offering five hundred pounds or some fifteen hundred dollars in American money for a quiz show?

A—I think I should get something for my time, sir.

MC—Well, my good fellow, you talk it over with your folks and I'll talk it over with mine.

A—I warn you I shall consult counsel about suing you!

MC—Let us jointly consult barristers and SUE AMERICA! Until next week then, cheerio!

Beyond Temptation

One of Ohio's best new laws of recent years goes into effect on Sept. 30—a law that says all meetings of boards, commissions, agencies and authorities of counties, townships, municipal corporations, school districts and other political subdivisions must be kept open to the public at all times and no formal action of any kind can be taken in executive sessions.

To make doubly sure that hush-hush meetings and actions will be removed beyond the temptation of officials for all time, the new law says minutes of all meetings also shall be promptly recorded and open to public inspection on demand.

This safeguard has been put into the Ohio code as the result of a campaign by Ohio Newspaper Association, whose members are in close contact with the official agencies whose members sometimes are tempted to go astray and conceal what they are doing. This doesn't happen often, but when it does happen there should be automatic recourse to law.

Up until now, the only way to dig out information being withheld from the public was to work on a catch-as-catch-can basis, with the courts as a last resort. Effective Sept. 30, it is illegal at the outset to bar the public from any official meeting in Ohio—and the press is part of the public.

Scarcity Of Wives

By HAL BOYLE

CAIRO (AP)—Wives are getting scarcer every day in the Gaza strip.

Living there are 250,000 refugees who fled Palestine homes at the outbreak of hostilities between Arabs and Jews in 1948. They are on U. N. dote in camps in the Egyptian held part of Palestine.

As soon as the maturing refugee girls receive their school diplomas they are off to seek jobs in distant Arab countries where demands for teachers, nurses and secretaries are great.

Inflation of dowries has resulted from the shortage of eligible maidens. Bachelors have complained of the fabulous sums demanded as dowry. An average figure reached recently is equivalent to $3,000. This desire of the refugee teenagers to support themselves is revolutionary in this part of the world. In the rest of the Arab countries the sons often remain dependent on their parents until they are well on in their 20s. The girls after their schooling remain home until they are married.

But apparently the last thing this generation of educated refugee girls want to do is to marry a fellow refugee and live in poverty.

Almost all the refugee girls of age attend schools financed by the United Nations. Passing in examination is in many cases 100 per cent.

As soon as the girls receive their diplomas they apply for jobs in Kuwait, Iraq, Libya or Saudi Arabia.

Demand for educated people and the heat which discourages people from working in these underdeveloped but oil-rich countries keep wages high. Salaries are often tenfold those for similar jobs in Cairo, Alexandria or Beirut.

Many girls plan to work two or three years in these desert countries and save enough money for a college education. Some plan to go to the United States. Most of these girls send money to their parents back home — a novelty in the Middle East.

Axle-Mile Tax Collects 21 Million Dollars

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes reports Ohio's controversial axle-mile tax produced $21,333,308 in its first 21 months of operation. The figure is for taxes collected through Sept. 29. Of the total, Rhodes said, $19,483,506 was put in the highway construction bond retirement fund, and $1,849,801 went for refunds and expenses. The tax is a levy on trucks having more than two axles for use of Ohio highways.

'The Big Window.' That's Your Newspaper. It Helps You To See

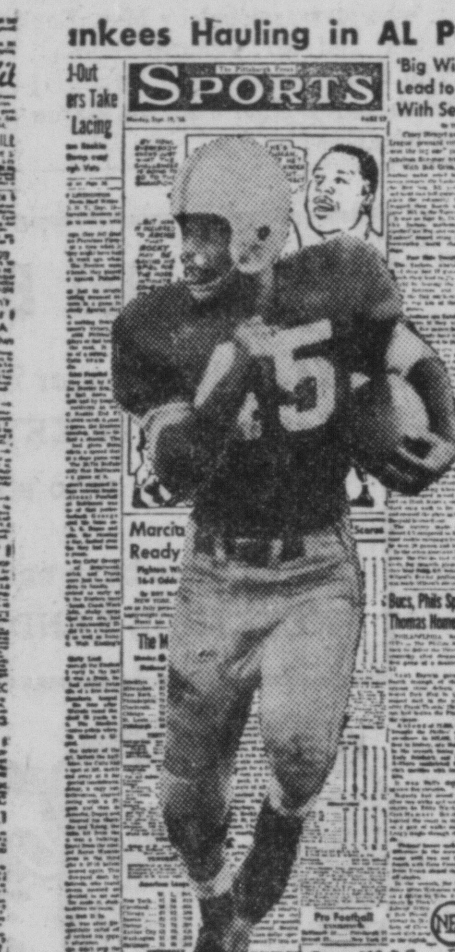

IT WOULD BE hard to imagine life in a community without a newspaper. It would be something like daytime without the sun rising. You couldn't SEE. This is National Newspaper Week, a period when the papers can speak right out about the part they play in their city's life. The slogan this year is: "Your Newspaper — Fights for Your Right to Know." That tells the whole story simply and completely.

THE FRONT PAGE of a newspaper brings you the world. You can see just so much of your community from your home. But each day a big window opens up. It is your newspaper and through it you may see many things. They're amazing, inspiring or informative. Some, frankly, are dingy. But even they, in their way, help avoid pitfalls of life. We live but once. The daily opening of the big window interprets life, draws you out as a part of it.

LET IT BE SAID once and for all that your newspaper is not trying to take over your right to make up your own mind. As an American citizen it is your duty to weight the facts and have opinions. Why, then, the Editorial Page? It is designed merely to give you Big Window a slightly higher vantage point. Day and night, the paper scans the news trails. On the Editorial Page the reader gets the advantage of this close scrutiny.

WOMEN are among the most avid readers of newspapers. It is only proper that a large portion of the Big Window which looks out on life be devoted to them. Thus the big "PRIVATE" mark on the Women's Pages in American newspapers. Without their community news, their ceaseless parade of entertaining reports on fashions, customs, and gadgets, life would be drab indeed.

FROM PAKISTAN to Peru, the average American home is the symbol of luxurious living. Even such a frivolous U. S. toy as an electric train was the sensation of a foreign trade fair recently. Without the tremendous main bearing of the American press with its reports on what's new and its advertising to show the way to attaining new things, our standard of living would never have attained heights that make it the envy of the world.

ALL THE dragons have been vanquished. No more do they breathe fire. Our knights of today are on the gridiron, the diamond, the court. And so, in the Big Window which is your newspaper, daily appears a procession of athletic heroes. This is part of the American heritage — sportsmanship and the will to win. Other nations envy our sturdy, resourceful youth. Their lessons in competitiveness were learned on the Sports Pages.

AS WELL AS informing the U. S. citizenry and helping it form its opinions, the American press brings many happy hours of entertainment into readers' homes. A large percentage of the space offers amusing chatter or witty drawings. Generations have taken a daily dose of pleasure from its comic pages. This habit has subtracted nothing from the national characteristics of easy-going tolerance and the saving ability to laugh at ourselves.

THERE'S something heartwarming in the fact that one of the biggest spokes in the newspaper wheel is the American boy. Today is Newspaperboy's Day in Newspaper Week. It is not the least contribution made to the democracy by its newspapers that thousands of youngsters have grown up learning lessons in taking responsibility and carrying on their own little businesses. A newspaper route is a real character builder.

Why buy just anti-freeze...when for no extra cost you can get

SOHIO GUARANTEED RADIATOR PROTECTION

Ordinarily when you protect your radiator with non-evaporative anti-freeze in the Fall, you're never sure but what you'll need to add more later on to replace what may be lost through leakage or other causes.

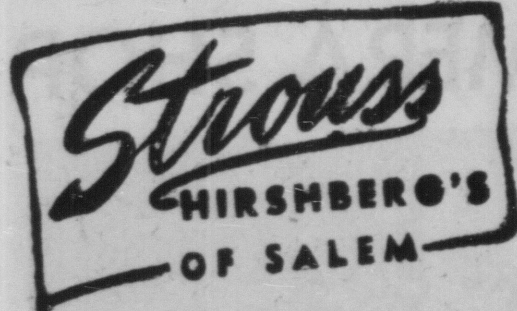

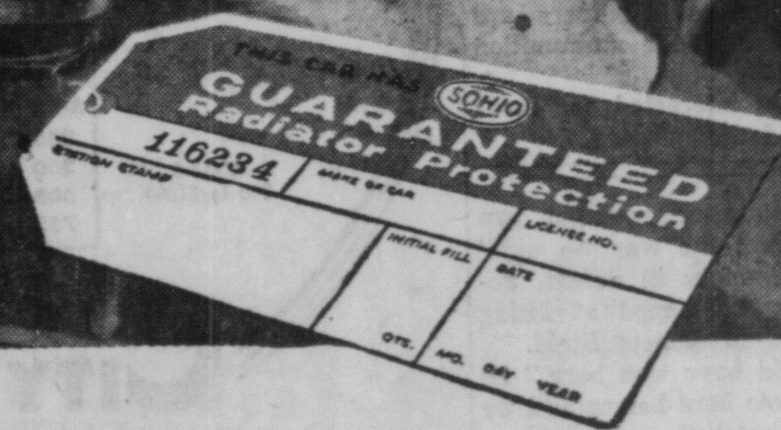

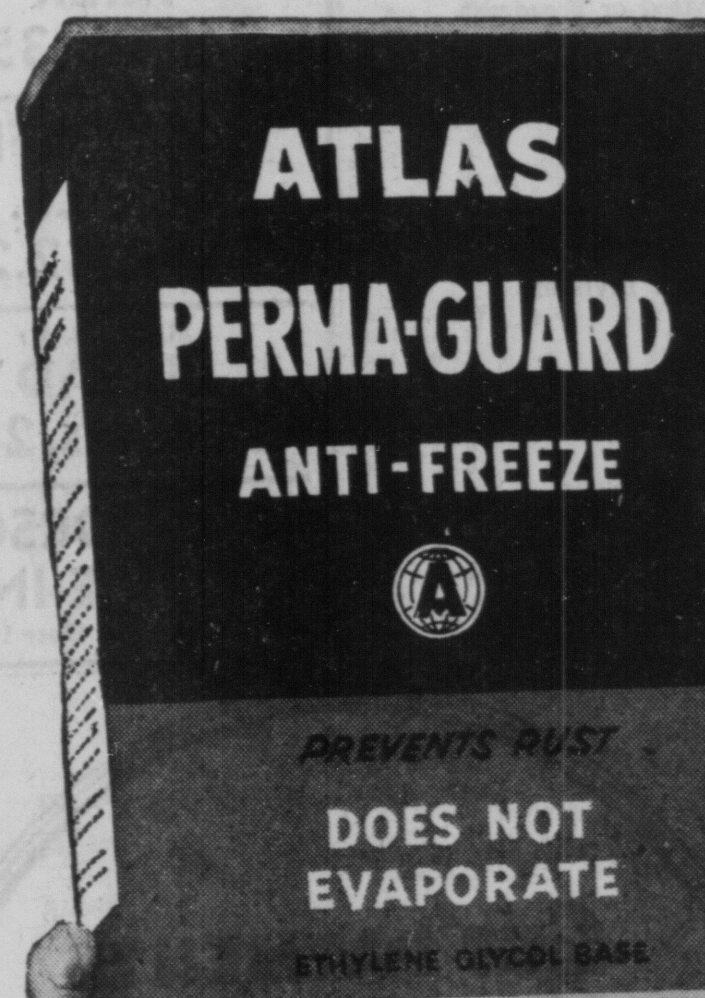

But there is a way to buy non-evaporative anti-freeze that guarantees you against loss of anti-freeze. It's Sohio Guaranteed

Radiator Protection . . . available with Atlas Perma-Guard! With it you have a guarantee that Sohio will give you replacement anti-freeze if you lose protection through leakage, boil-over, or any other cause. Yet, Guaranteed Radiator Protection with Atlas Perma-Guard costs you no more than one fill of other non-evaporative anti-freezes without the guarantee!

Here's how it works:

- 1 First, Sohio thoroughly checks your car's cooling system, to be sure that it's watertight.
- 2 Next, your radiator is protected to 20° below zero with Atlas Perma-Guard — non-evaporative anti-freeze.
- 3 You get a written guarantee that the solution in your radiator will be protected against loss until April 1, 1956.
- 4 If a radiator check during winter shows you've lost protection by 5° or more, Sohio adds enough Perma-Guard free to restore 20° below protection.

opens the way to new beauty for women with dry skin...oily skin...disturbed skin

WHY? Your skin is dry. You use rich creams faithfully, yet there's no relief from flakiness. Why?

WHY? Your skin is oily. You switch from one treatment preparation to another, yet blackheads and blemishes still persist. Why?

BECAUSE! The answer is the same in either case, as Max Factor scientists have now proved. There is often a chemical barrier in the skin itself which keeps creams and lotions from getting in and working most effectively. This barrier develops when skin lacks correct pH* balance and is either too acid or too alkaline.

WHAT? But now Max Factor has perfected the way to bring about normal acidity-alkaline balance characteristic of young skin . . . puts in your hands the SECRET KEY — a remarkable liquid which prepares your skin for treatment by breaking through the stubborn chemical barrier when it exists. The SECRET KEY now actually opens the way for treatment creams and lotions to work most effectively!

Having discovered the SECRET KEY, Max Factor has formulated exclusive corrective creams and lotions to follow right behind . . . complete beauty treatment groups for Dry Skin, for Oily Skin, for Disturbed Skin, for Normal Skin.

Dodgers Take 3rd Straight, Lead Yankees 3 Games To 2

Rookie Defeats New York 5-3

Duke Snider Blasts 2 More Home Runs

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers' long-sought goal - their first world championship—appeared within sight today.

They were leading the New York Yankees three games to two as action shifted back to the wide-open spaces of Yankee Stadium. It was there Brooklyn lost the first two games of the World Series. Their three successive victories came in the compact and friendly confines of Ebbets Field.

After winning 5-3 Sunday, the Brooks from Manager Walt Alston on down believed they could win at least one in the Stadium. If not today, then tomorrow for sure.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel growled: "I'm not predicting anything except that it will go seven."

His starting pitcher, he said, would be Whitey Ford today and Tommy Byrne Tuesday.

"Either Don Newcombe or Karl Spooner will be my pitcher," Alston said. "I can't make up my mind. But if there is a seventh game, Johnny Podres will pitch Tuesday."

Newcombe himself may make up Alston's mind for him. The Dodgers' 20-game winner, who lost the first game, complained that the stiffness in his arm hadn't left him.

"It's still sore," he said. "I didn't even bother to throw today because of the pain. I don't know whether or not I'll be able to pitch."

Spooner, who worked three fine innings in relief in the second game, said he was ready to go.

The largest crowd of the series, some 65,000, is expected to watch the sixth game. The forecast was "fair and continued cool" with the temperature in the high 60s.

Although the Yankees were a 6-5 favorite to win today's game, the odds-makers, for the first time, made the Dodgers the choice to win the series—a standpoint 13-5.

Never before were the Dodgers' prospects so bright, although once before, back in 1952 Brooklyn led after five games only to drop the next two games and the series to the Yankees. But as Alston said when reminded of the '52 debacle: "This is a different year and a different Dodger team." He could also have added "and a different Yankee team."

Injuries to outfielders Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer, and others stripped the Yankees of much of their attack and the Yankee bullpen has been of less service than anybody anticipated. Right now the Dodgers' staff looks stronger than Stengel's. The Brooks not only have the pitching but they're proven they have the power and the sure-handed defense that goes with making a championship club.

Never before had a Brooklyn team won three in a row over the American League. Never before, in seven chances over 40 years, have the Dodgers won a world championship. Never has a team lost the first two games and come back to take the title inside seven games. The first has been done. One more victory would accomplish the other two.

Sunday's victory was by far the sweetest for Alston. He gambled and won with a surprise starter in Roger Craig, a 24-year-old right-hander who only a year ago was pitching in the Class B Piedmont League. The bony 6-4 right-hander, who pitched only 91 major league innings since his promotion from Montreal, in midseason, upheld the judgment of Alston by turning in a creditable performance.

He didn't last, but when Alston yanked him in the seventh he had yielded only four hits and two runs. There were none out and he had walked Elston Howard after a home run by pinch hitter Bob Cerv had cut the Dodgers' lead to 4-2.

Clem Labine, Saturday's winner, came in and threw a double play ball to Irv Noren. From then on, Labine pitched almost perfect ball except for a home run by Yogi Berra and a single by Eddie Robinson in the eighth. He retired pinch hitters Andy Carey, Tommy Byrne and Howard on five pitches in the ninth.

"I liked what I saw of Craig all year," enthused Alston. "I had a lot of confidence in him. He has guts. He didn't want to come out in the seventh and his stuff was still sharp but I wasn't sure of his control and figured here was the spot for Labine's low pitch to get a double play."

Once again, it was the home run ball that ruined the Yanks. Bob Grim, the Yankee starter and loser, had good stuff but it looked especially good to Duke Snider and Sandy Amoros. Snider whacked two out of the park and Amoros contributed a two-run blast that got the Dodgers off and running in the second inning.

Snider's homers, his third and fourth in the Series, were especially irksome to Stengel.

"He shouldn't get that many homers," Stengel said. "We shouldn't let that man hit that many

Browns Roll Over San Francisco, 38-3

49ers Can't Get Attack Moving

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With Otto Graham's passing as sharp as before his "retirement," the Cleveland Browns crushed the San Francisco 49ers 38-3 yesterday.

Graham, who "retired" at the end of last season but came back when the Browns ran into trouble in this year's exhibitions, completed seven passes for 140 yards.

With Graham clicking and Ed Modzelewski and Fred Morrison cracking the line for big gains, the Browns dominated the play. They looked different than last week, when they lost their NFL opener to Washington.

The 49ers couldn't get an attack moving, and the fans booted loudly. They rode their veteran quarterback, Y. A. Tittle, especially hard, although he completed 7 of 15 passes for 57 yards.

Tommy James' interception of Tittle's first pass on the San Francisco 28 yard line, set up the first Brown score, with Graham going over from the one.

Gordon Soltau's 17-yard field goal made it 7-3, but the Browns took over in the second quarter and turned it into a rout. With two long passes from Graham to Dub Jones and Darrell Brewster covering most of the ground, the Browns drove 75 yards with Modzelewski crashing over from the one.

When the next Brown stalled on the 49er 25-yard-line, Lou Groza booted a field goal, to make it 17-3.

The 49ers took the kickoff and couldn't gain in three tries. On fourth down, Bobby Luna's punt was blocked by Chuck Noll and the Browns took over on the San Francisco 24. Graham tossed to Dante Lavelli for 19 yards, two plays later Morrison went over to give the Browns a 24-3 half-time lead.

In the third quarter, a poor punt gave the Browns the ball on the San Francisco 49, and 10 plays later Modzelewski scored from the one.

Late in the game, Cleveland Coach Paul Brown sent in a second string backfield. Led by George Ratterman it drove to the final score, with Maurice Bassett going five yards off tackle for the touchdown.

It was the worst beating the 49ers ever took in their home stadium, and the first time since 1950 they failed to score a touchdown in a game.

Fairfield Defeats Beach City 34-12

The Fairfield six-man football team upped its season's record to two wins and one loss as they came from behind to defeat Beach City 34-12 at the New Waterford field Saturday afternoon.

Beach City struck up dirt first as halfback John Zehnder scored on a 12-yard run early in the first quarter. Fairfield came right back to move ahead when halfback Bob Chmura tallied from five yards out and Dave Brothers plunged over for the extra point.

Beach City halfback Zehnder again put his team in the lead for the last time as he scored their final touchdown on an 11-yard run in the first quarter.

Fairfield then went on to add six points in the second period, seven in the third and 14 more in the final frame.

In the second period, halfback Brothers ran 11 yards for the TD. Fairfield's third tally came when Joe Pahanish took a pitchout and scored from 13 yards out after halfback Louis Groubert had set up the touchdown on a 55-yard kickoff return.

The winners added two more touchdowns in the final frame as Brothers again scored on a 35 yard run and Pahanish recovered a Beach City blocked punt in the end zone. Groubert and Chmura added the two extra points in the period to make the final score 34-12.

Fairfield plays their next game at Hopedale Friday night.

Stengel, gracious in defeat, admitted he was stunned at losing three games in Ebbets Field.

"We should have won here," he said. "We won here before and we have only ourselves to blame."

Snider's Power May Finally Bring Dodgers Series Win

NEW YORK (AP)—In late August, when the Brooklyn Dodgers were coasting on their long lead, center fielder Duke Snider fell into a woeful batting slump which drew boos and catcalls — and an occasional field stand.

"Dodger fans are the worst in baseball," the hot-headed Snider snapped bitterly. "They don't deserve a pennant."

The next day a chastened Snider amended his outburst to say, "Well, some don't," and then today, with Brooklyn just one game away from its first world championship because of his own spectacular exploits, he commented: "I am not interested in personal records. My one big thrill will come the moment we clinch the World Series, and that will be soon."

"Do Brooklyn fans deserve a world championship?" someone teased.

Snider deliberated a moment and replied coldly: "The players do."

Once the problem child of the Dodgers because of his trigger temper and over zealousness, the 29-year-old powerhouse from Los Angeles is providing the momentum which may end the Dodgers' series of failures in this dramatic post season showdown.

Two mighty home runs Sunday in Brooklyn's 5-3 victory at Ebbets Field gave him a total of four for the present series, tying the record held by Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and himself.

His total of nine home runs in World Series play place him third in the all time list of great sluggers who have come to the plate and swung down through the years. Babe Ruth hit 15. Lou Gehrig hit 10. When Snider hit his ninth in the fifth inning Sunday he surpassed another great Yankee, Joe DiMaggio, who had eight.

"DiMaggio has always been my inspiration," the big, rugged Snider acknowledged in the dressing room afterwards. "I don't know how well I've only chatter with him a few times. But I think he's the greatest."

Casey Stengel, Yankee manager, refused to make comparisons. But after Snider's great hitting and fielding exhibitions of the last two games, he remarked:

"That fellow was the only one who hurt us. He's the turning point."

His batting average for the first five games is .381. He has eight hits in 21 at bats, with four homers, a double and seven runs-batted-in. He batted .345 in 1952 and .320 in 1953.

Snider's real name is Edwin Donald Snider. He got the name "Duke" from his dad, a former semipro player, when he was a lad of four. He was reared in the baseball tradition. He has a loose, vicious swing at bat. He has steel-spring legs which produce fantastic leaping catches. And he has quick-getaway speed.

Kenny Lane, ambitious young lightweight contender from Muskegon, Mich., and fading Paddy DeMarco, former 135-pound champion from Brooklyn, clash in a television 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

The Salem High School reserve football team will play host to the Boardman High School reserves this evening, with kickoff time scheduled for 7:45 at Relly Stadium, according to Faculty Athletic Manager Fred Cope.

The game will pit Coach Ben Barrett's sophomores and players who did not see action in last Friday night's game against the Boardman reserve strength.

Salem players to see plenty of action will be halfback Darryl Adams, fullback Henry Maxim, quarterback James Meissner, end Fred Stewart, tackle Paul Welch, halfback Larry Hepler, tackle Fred Jensen, end James Horn, tackle Dick Reichert, halfback Bob Howard, tackle Dennis McLaughlin, center Bob Sabo, guard Karl Sweeney and center Ralph Manning.

In their only outing of the year so far, the Salem Reserves were trounced by the Goshen Union High School varsity 44-0 on the home field Sept. 24.

Cope has also announced that the Salem American Legion Band, champions in Ohio this year, will perform the same routine at half-time tonight that they will use in national competition at Miami, Fla. this week.

Fans at tonight's game will be charged a nominal admission to cover the cost of lighting the field and for pay to workers, Cope said.

With four minutes to go, Jack Hahn took a pass from John Murine covering four yards for Poland's final score. Murine hit on 10 of 12 passes during the game.

Baltimore Colts Trip Detroit

Redskins Also Turn In Surprising Play

By RIP WATSON
The Associated Press
Led by a couple of yearlings, the frisky Baltimore Colts are kicking up their heels in the National Football League.

The youngsters, Alan Ameche and George Shaw, have accounted for all the Baltimore touchdowns in a surprising season in which the Colts find themselves in a three-way tie for the lead in the NFL's western conference today after the whipping Detroit 28-13 over the weekend. The Colts, like the Green Bay Packers and Los Angeles Rams, have 2-0 records, and the Colts meet the Packers Saturday night in the best game on the NFL card.

Green Bay kept pace by shellacking the Chicago Bears Sunday 24-3, while the Rams cut it as close with a 27-26 victory over Pittsburgh, achieved on Les Richter's 3-yard field goal just as the gun sounded.

Washington, another surprise package, leads the Eastern Conference with a 2-0 mark after its 31-30 squeaker over Philadelphia Saturday night. In other games Sunday Cleveland's Browns snapped back after an opening loss to crush San Francisco 38-3 and the Chicago Cardinals upended New York 28-17.

A record crowd of 40,000 watched in awe at Baltimore as the Colts manhandled the Lions. After all, the team had won only three games a year since coming back into the league in 1953. And these were the mighty Detroit Lions, whom they'd never beaten.

When Ameche wasn't running through the Lions, Shaw was passing over their heads. He hit for two touchdowns and the 28 points the Colts accumulated to stimulate the defensive platoon that they stopped Detroit cold in the second half.

Green Bay owes much of its early success to Tobin Rote. Rote fired 32 yards to Bill Howten for one touchdown Sunday and connected with Gary Knefel for a 28-yard cincher in the final period. In between scoring passes, Rote plunged one yard for the other Packer touchdown.

It seemed for a time that Los Angeles' generosity would hand their game to Pittsburgh. Two fumbles and a disastrous fourth-down punt attempt virtually handed the Steelers three touchdowns, but the Rams pulled themselves together and marched from their 30 to Pittsburgh's 26, with the aid of a hotly disputed 15-yard penalty.

Richter booted the winning field goal from the 33 and Pittsburgh Coach Walt Kiesling blasted the officials for the "worst" officiating he's ever seen.

Otto Graham, who couldn't get started in Cleveland's first game against Washington, got thoroughly warmed up against San Francisco. Shooting his pin point passes through the San Francisco defense, Graham guided an attack that culled 357 yards. When San Francisco closed up to stop the passes, he sent Ed (Big Mo) Modzelewski and Fred (Curly) Morrison crashing through the weary 49er line.

Philadelphia gave Washington three touchdowns on two fumbles and a kick off which was allowed to roll unmolested into the end zone. Inspired by such gifts, the Redskins struck back from a 16-0 deficit with 28 points in a wild third quarter and got three more from Vic Janowicz fourth-period field goal. The old Ohio State flash had quite a night, with 19 points in all on two touchdowns and four conversions in addition to the field goal.

The Cardinals utilized two long scoring passes by Lamar McHan, one play covering 51 yards to Ollie Matson and one for 74 to Gern Nagler, plus a 65-yard run by Dave Mann to upset the Giants. The Cards' other score came when Jim Psaltis intercepted a pass and ran seven yards to score.

Big 10 Loses 3 of 4 Games With Intersectional Foes

By JOE OOSHIL
CHICAGO (AP)—Early suspicions that Big Ten football is not all it's cracked up to be were borne out over the weekend in which conference teams were whipped by three of four intersectional foes.

Not only did three teams—including defending champion Ohio State—get beat but all were victims of shutouts.

At the same time, Wisconsin stamped itself as a definite contender and possible champion with a rousing 37-14 victory over a suppositively strong Iowa team.

Ohio State, Indiana and North western were humbled by nonconference foes while Illinois upheld some Big Ten prestige with a powerful 40-0 triumph over Iowa State.

Stanford whacked Ohio State, 60-0; Notre Dame battered Indiana, 19-0; and Northwestern bowed before Tulane, 21-0.

Within conference ranks, Michigan, the nation's No. 2 team, scored a pair of tarnished touchdowns to subdue Michigan State, 14-7, and Purdue was hard pressed in gaining a 7-6 victory over Minnesota, a team which was blasted by Washington, 30-0.

Big Ten teams, however, will get a chance to redeem themselves in two big intersectional games this week. Michigan goes East to test Army, a team gunning for national honors, and Stanford tangles with Michigan State at East Lansing.

Wisconsin and Purdue top the conference schedule with a regionally televised game at Lafayette while Illinois sends its young speedsters to Ohio State.

Four of Saturday's victims will battle in a pair of conference games with three of the teams still seeking their initial victories.

Employ Physically Handicapped Week Being Observed

The 11th National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week is being observed this week in Salem, with a local committee in charge of promoting the hiring of the handicapped.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer has signed a proclamation announcing the week and urged the public to join in aiding "the extension of employment to the physically handicapped on the basis of their proven abilities."

Cranmer's proclamation says that it has been demonstrated repeatedly that physically handicapped men and women are efficient, effective workers.

Many of the handicapped are veterans who are seeking jobs, the N.E.P.H. committee points out. In the Korean War alone, more than 100,000 servicemen were wounded and many will be on the permanently disabled list.

The N.E.P.H. committee reports that the annual relief load because of disability is running more than 400 million dollars a year. Thousands of those receiving this relief could be rehabilitated, taking their places in production and other jobs, the committee says.

Each year between nine and ten million Americans suffer accidents at an estimated cost of seven billion dollars.

As a result of the presence in the population of millions of physically handicapped workers, government and private groups have taken many new steps to cope with the problem.

The President of the United States has given his name and prestige to the program to find jobs for these handicapped - jobs, the committee points out, that they are qualified to hold by their abilities.

The local committee is hoping to promote an essay contest in district high schools on the topic "Independence for the Handicapped Through Employment."

A film on employment of the disabled is available to be shown to clubs through the Ohio Employment Office here. It is entitled "America's Untapped Assets."

PLAN EMPLOY HANDICAPPED WEEK—The committee planning the local observance of "Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" is pictured above. ## Peron Begins His Exile In Paraguay ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—Juan D. Peron, the toppled Argentine dictator, took up residence in exile here today behind a guard of police and Tommy gunners.

The weary onetime strongman was flown here Sunday in a Paraguayan amphibian plane 13 days after he had taken refuge aboard a Paraguayan gunboat in the river Plate off Buenos Aires. His departure had been delayed while Argentine and Paraguayan officials straightened out the technicalities of his asylum.

The new Argentine government of Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi obviously hoped Peron would not tarry long in Paraguay, just across the Parana and Paraguay river from Argentine territory. A communique from Lonardi's regime said it was "confident" Paraguay would prevent Peron from "being an obstacle to friendly relations" between the two countries.

There have been suggestions that he might go ultimately to Spain or Switzerland.

Peron's pilot on the flight was Cmdr. Cosme Migliori, an Argentine who went into exile after an unsuccessful revolt against Peron in 1951.

The former President was greeted as he emerged from the plane by a jarring insult from another Argentine exile.

He paid no heed. Looking somewhat wan, he saluted to the right and left and smiled at the few officials who greeted him at Campo Grande military airport. He entered a black Lincoln automobile for the nine-mile ride into the city. A few townspeople were gathered along the route to watch the procession, but there were no cheers.

He was housed in a new three story residence belonging to Ricardo Gayol, Argentine textile importer. The property has a small garden and swimming pool.

Two Companions
Peron's only companions on the flight to exile were Juan Chaves, Paraguayan ambassador to Argentina, and Maj. Ignacio Cialceta, the fallen dictator's aide.

In Buenos Aires, the press and the government were still busily uncovering angles of Peron's secret love life and financial affairs.

The newspaper La Razon quoted Nelida Haydee Rivas, 16-year-old high school girl who has been linked to the dictator's love life, as saying he liked to call himself "The Man."

She said Peron who will celebrate his 60th birthday Oct. 8, was a generous lover who gave her some of the jewelry of his wife Eva, who died of cancer in 1952. Police said they had found jewelry and cash worth $46,000 in Nelida's apartment.

Facts Given On Planting Bulbs In Fall

By HENRY FREE
Written for NEA Service

Nature can be licked at times, but not when it comes to seasons and planting schedules.

Another time of falling leaves in a golden autumn is with us, and the business of getting next spring's garden in shape.

In most of our country, the period from mid-September till the first frost has been reserved by nature for such essential tasks as making a new lawn, setting in shrubs and planting spring-flowering bulbs.

The first two aren't absolute musts, but with tulips, daffodils, hyacinths and the other bulbs, there's no choice; either plant in fall or have a flowerless spring.

For best results, especially with daffodils and tulips, avoid the mistake, made by many, of waiting too long before buying. If bulbs are purchased by mail, early ordering is all the more important.

Orders are filled in the order in which they are received, so if placed in plenty of time there is no danger that choice varieties may be exhausted. And if your bulbs are delivered in good time, you can get them in early and have the job off your mind.

Daffodils are best planted in September and October because then they become more firmly established. Strong root systems developed during the autumn mean finer spring flowers.

As for the minor bulbs, such as grape hyacinths, snowdrops and scillas, these small fellows are in danger of drying out if left lying about, and several of them bloom so very early in the spring that they should have time to make root growth in the autumn.

They should, therefore, be put into the ground as quickly as possible after delivery.

Avoid "bargain bulbs" usually they're not large enough to bloom properly the first year they're planted. Top quality Dutch tulip bulbs sell for as little as $1.25-$1.50 a dozen, daffodils about $1.50-$2.50 a dozen, and hyacinths, once rare and expensive, now can be had for as little as $3 or $4 a dozen.

After your spring-flowering bulbs are once planted, they should give you bloom for a good many years without further care except an occasional feeding and watering. If possible, dig up your beds before the bulbs are delivered.

Then it is easy enough to make holes in the soil with a long-bladed trowel and plant the bulbs pressing each firmly in the bottom of its hole before covering.

For informal groups in beds or borders, be careful to avoid even spacing and uniform designs. Drop bulbs from the hand into the ground and plant them roughly where they fall, leaving about eight inches between daffodils and somewhat less between tulips.

This method will avoid a geometric pattern such as is apt to appear if bulbs are set out in rows or if each is deliberately placed by hand. Leave a foot or more of space between each group and mark each plainly with a permanent label bearing the variety name and date of planting.

Depth of planting varies with the bulb—three inches for crocus and grape hyacinth, six for narcissus, daffodils, hyacinths and late tulips, and five for early tulips.

Plan To Get Full Use From Basement

In planning your new home, you should consider the importance of a basement and plan it as carefully as the rest of the house, say the Small Home Council of the University of Illinois.

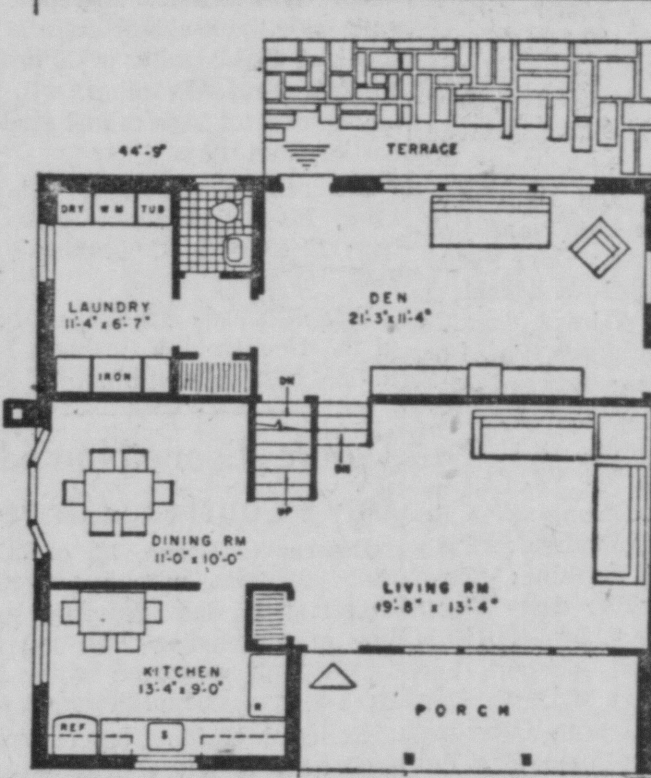

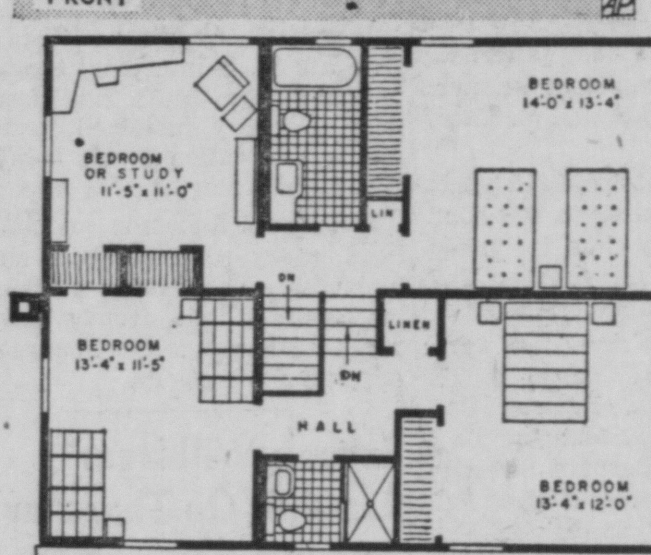

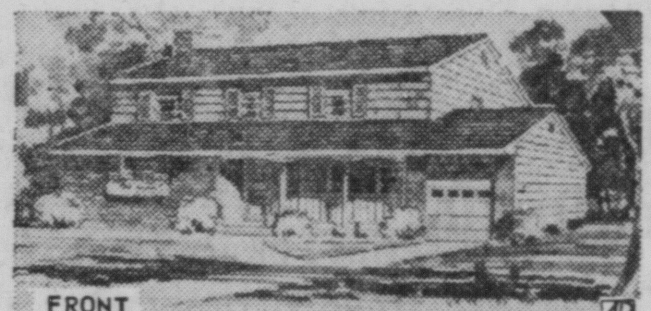

For the space it provides, a basement is the most economical part of the house. The complete cost of basement floor space usually amounts to about $1.25 per square foot, as compared with $12 or $14 per square foot above ground. A full basement often costs less than a small storage space for tools, garden equipment, bicycle, etc., built into the house above ground.

TWO-STORY split level is the architect's description for this five-level house. It occupies a small area as a cottage, yet contains nine rooms, two baths, extra lavatory, plus a basement utility room with work bench space and a spacious basement game room. You enter this house from a covered porch at the living room level. Four steps below is a den or all-purpose room with laundry and lavatory adjoining. Rear terrace opens from the den. Eight steps up from the living room are a study-bedroom, bathroom and master bedroom. Five steps from this level are two more bedrooms and a bath with stall shower. This is Plan 100AP by Samuel Paul, architect, 89-511 164th St., Jamaica 32, N.Y. The house covers an area of only 1,050 square feet with 920 square feet on upper floors.

Basements now are used not only for storage, workshop and laundry, but also as recreation rooms, TV rooms, and even bedrooms. Modern planning and materials can make the basement as light, dry and livable as the rest of the house.

Even on a level lot, says the Council, a well-lighted basement can be achieved by the use of wide windows with large areas which will permit sunlight to enter.

"A direct outside entrance to the basement eliminates tracking through the house and increases the basement's usefulness for hobbies, garden tool storage, laundering and other activities," the Council says.

It recommends a modernized version of the old-fashioned cellar door to protect the cellar entrance from ice, snow and rain. Steel doors, designed to fit snugly over the stairs from the cellar, are permanent and weather-proof. Plumbing lines, heating ducts and electrical wiring often can be placed between the basement ceiling joists while the house is being built. They will be completely hidden from view when basement rooms are finished.

Even if you do not plan to use the basement immediately for work or recreational purposes, providing adequate window and outside-door openings while you are building will enable you to create glamorous rooms at lower cost later and will add to the resale value of the house.

Plastic Wall Tile Glamorizes Bathroom

Your bathroom walls can now have a custom-made look on an economy budget with new, easy-to-install colored plastic wall tile.

Even a busy homemaker can find time to glamorize her bathroom by following the simple method recommended by Stephanie Vaughn, home fashion consultant of the Mastic Tile Corporation of America.

First, measure in inches the height of the wall to which tiling will reach and mark the position of the half tile borders and color-accents feature strip, if either is being used.

Place a row of tiles on the floor across the entire width of wall—leaving a space of about 1/4" between end of row and corner of wall. Ends are left open to be tiled last with tile cut to size. Apply adhesive with a grooved spreader in thin, even strokes. Each tile must be lined up and set by pressing the four corners simultaneously. On cut tile for corners and on cove base border strip, "butter" the adhesive on to the back of tile instead of spreading it on the wall.

Plastic wall tile in 15 sparkling colors, as well as all the necessary equipment for installation, is available at Matico dealer nationally.

12 Billion Spent On Home Improvement In '54

Homeowners are spending twice as much on maintenance and improvements, according to the Census Bureau, as the volume this branch of construction has previously been credited with.

The discovery of this hidden home improvement boom resulted from a special survey the United States Census Bureau made recently on a broader sampling than had previously been used.

The Bureau's study covered the first five months of 1954. In that period homeowners spent three billion dollars to improve their homes.

At that rate, the expenditures for the full year would have totalled about eight billion dollars. Adding eight billion to the four billion for maintenance work on tenant-occupied and vacant dwellings, would result in an expenditure on all homes for maintenance and improvement of twelve billion in 1954.

Prior to the special survey, the estimate had been six billion six hundred thousand dollars.

oper of the special silicone resin used as the base for silicone sealer.

Linde chemists say this is the way the sealers work: The liquid penetrates into the pores of brick or concrete; when the solvent evaporates, the silicone is deposited on the surface of pores in the masonry. A chemical reaction takes place, which results in a highly water-repellent surface of silicone resin adhering to the walls of each pore.

Driving rains of hurricane intensity will not hurt the coating.

Existing buildings as well as brand new ones can be treated with silicone sealers. They should not be used over resin or oil based paints, but can be applied over cement based paints.

They can be applied at any time of year, even in freezing weather, but you must wait for a dry spell of two or three days before beginning the application.

A seeming paradox is that while the sealers keep rain water out, they don't keep moisture generated inside the house from getting to the outside.

Fixit Forum

Q—We have a new home and our window screens are galvanized, unpainted. Is there something I can do to our screens to keep them in good condition without painting?—L.M.

A—Painting with one of the newer rust-inhibitive metal primers is probably still the best protection for galvanized screens. You can apply it with brush, sprayer, or specially made screen coat. Galvanized metal should not be painted, however, until it has weathered six months or more.

Q—The wall beneath one of our upstairs windows often gets wet during a rain, although there is never any water on the window sill. What might cause this?—Mrs. C. D.

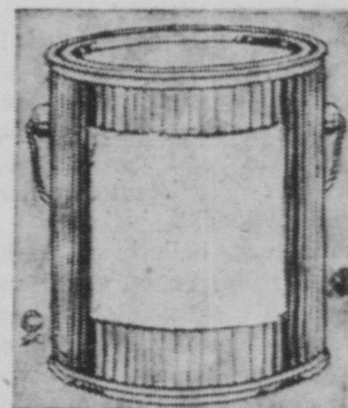

A—The trouble may be due to the window frame being poorly built or improperly weather-proofed. Check first to see if there is a drip cap over the window. The cap is a piece of molding that extends outward from the top of the outside casing. On the underside of this cap there should be a groove, which may need to be scraped clean and painted. If the drip cap is in good shape, water may be entering gaps between window casing and the side of the house. Apply caulking compound all around the window frame.

How to Remove Common Stains From Concrete

Sooner or later, and despite preventive measures, concrete basement and garage floors are going to become stained. It is as inevitable as the common cold. But while there is no known cold cure, there are a number of remedies for stains on concrete.

The Portland Cement Association declares that practically every type of stain can be removed from concrete. But the key to complete removal is to start treatment soon after the stain appears. Long neglected stains demand repeated treatments and patience on the "doctor's" part.

Three stains most likely to mar concrete floors are made by iron (the stain looks like rust), oil and rotten wood. Since all are penetrating stains, treatment usually involves applying a poultice or bandage.

A poultice is made by mixing active chemicals with a fine, inert powder to a pasty consistency—this is applied in a thick layer. A bandage consists of cotton batting or layers of cloth, soaked in chemicals and pasted over the stain. These either draw out the stain or drive it in deeper, out of sight.

Light iron stains that cover a large area can be removed from concrete, or at least improved in appearance, using the following method: Mop the area with a solution made of one pound oxalic acid powder to a gallon of water. Let stand two or three hours, then rinse with clear water, scrubbing at the same time with stiff brushes or brooms. A second application may be necessary.

For deeper, more intense iron stains, both a bandage and a poultice should be used. First soak the surface with a solution made by dissolving one part of sodium citrate crystals in six parts of water. Then dip white cloth or cotton batting in this solution and paste over stains for 10 to 15 minutes. Next, sprinkle the floor stain with a thin layer of hydro-sulphite crystals, moisten with water, and cover with a stiff mixture of whitening and water. Remove after an hour, or a black stain may develop. Repeat, if necessary, and rinse thoroughly with clear water.

If an oil stain is properly treated soon after it develops, there will be no stain. The proper treatment is to mop off the oil immediately and cover the spot with Fuller's earth, or other dry powdered material, such as hydrated lime, whitening or dry Portland cement.

Oil stains that have remained for some time can be removed by applying a white flannel bandage saturated with a mixture of equal parts of acetone and amyl acetate. Cover the bandage with a slab of concrete or a pane of glass. Keep restating the cloth until stain vanishes.

Under the damp conditions that are so common to basements and garages, wood may rot and, if in contact with concrete, cause a chocolate-colored, very dark stain. A solution of trisodium phosphate and chlorinated lime, applied in the form of a bandage, will do the trick.

First dissolve two pounds of trisodium phosphate crystals in a gallon of hot water. Mix 12 ounces of chlorinated lime to a paste in a shallow enameled pan by adding water. Pour this and trisodium phosphate solution into a two-gallon stoneware jar and fill with water. Stir, cover and allow to settle.

Fold a white flannel cloth three or four times and saturate it with the liquid. Paste over the stain and cover with concrete slab or glass pane. Keep the cloth well soaked with the solution, which can also be used to remove smoke stains on concrete.

12 Ohioans Die In Weekend Traffic

Girl Fatally Shot By Brother, Aged 9

By The Associated Press
Ohio's brand new, safety-conscious turnpike closed out its first weekend of operation without a traffic fatality, but elsewhere in the state the highway death toll reached double figures.

Traffic deaths totaled 12, including two small children, during the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight last (Sunday) night.

In other accidents, an 8-month-old Bellefontaine girl was fatally shot Saturday by her 9-year-old baby-sitting brother, and a Cuyahoga Falls man fell to his death yesterday from a bridge.

Motorcycle accidents near Dayton yesterday killed two.

Two Cincinnatians died yesterday in separate accidents, both of which came when cars crashed into utility poles.

For the second straight weekend there were no double fatalities.

The list of fatalities:

Friday night:
Linda Gail Stone, 3, New Miami, in a four-car accident in that Butler County village.

Saturday:
Hmoe W. Shilt, Dayton, when his car collided with a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train on a country road crossing five miles west of Piqua.

Jeremiah E. Bonner, 19, Chillicothe, when the car in which he was riding upset east of Bainbridge.

Rita Ann Bailey, eight months, Bellefontaine, accidentally shot by her 9-year-old brother who was minding her.

Mrs. Mildred Kryling, 47, Bellevue, in a head-on collision on Ohio 510 north of Clyde.

Chester W. Turner, 41, Rt. 1, Lucas, in a one car accident on Ohio 39, 1 1/2 miles south of U.S. 30 near Mansfield.

Mrs. Ruth J. Johnson, 45, Norwood, in a two-car crash on U.S. 68, three miles south of Bellefontaine.

Mrs. Antoinette Richmond, 21, Cleveland, in a car-truck collision on Ohio 2, 15 miles east of Toledo.

Sunday:
Andrew Wotring, 60, Cuyahoga Falls, in a fall from the Little Cuyahoga River bridge at Peninsula, Summit County.

J. C. Mitchell, 29, Cincinnati, when the auto in which he was riding crashed into a city utility pole.

John F. Foraker, 6, Adamsville near Zanesville, when he ran in front of an automobile on U.S. 22 near Cambridge.

Veio D. Walker, 18, Dayton, when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car on Hemple

The first sale of the bulbs is recorded in the picture above as Glenn O. Robbins, sales chairman, hands a bag to Dolly Capel. Bulbs for general sale will be distributed when the club holds its weekly meeting Tuesday at 6 p. m. at the Lape Hotel.

Rd. three miles west of Ohio 4. Virgil McComas, 25, Dayton, when his motorcycle went out of control on a curve on Valley Pike near Dayton.

Mrs. Betty Boyd, 29, Cincinnati, injured fatally when a car driven by her husband skidded into a city utility pole.

Letter Writing Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield noted today that this is National Letter Writing Week and said it was a good time to get off those long-posted letters to relatives and friends.

ARREST DOPE PEDDLERS

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Federal narcotics agents teamed with Dayton police and the county prosecutor's office last night to arrest 11 persons dealing in narcotics sales here.

Police Lt. R. C. Grundish said each arrest followed the sale of narcotics to a federal undercover agent. He said a total of $6,000 worth of narcotics were purchased. All arrested were from Dayton.

Test Developed For Usually Fatal Children's Disease

CHICAGO (AP)—Development of a simple saliva test for easier detection of a usually fatal and "oftentimes misdiagnosed" children's ailment called "the disease of salty tears" was reported today.

A team of University of Maryland researchers said the new test consists simply of placing a wad of cotton in a child's mouth, collecting saliva and testing it for its salt content.

Dr. Samuel P. Bessman and two colleagues told about it at a scientific exhibit at the opening today of the 24th annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics. The disease, technically known as "fibrocystic disease," can cause a plugging of certain paths in the pancreas or lungs. It gets its nickname, "salty tear disease," mainly from the fact that it usually causes malfunctioning of the sweat, salivary and tear-producing glands, resulting in an abnormal amount of salt in those secretions.

Digestive processes are disturbed, resulting in weakened and bloated abdomens. When the lungs are affected, children are barrel-chested and subject to frequent respiratory ailments.

The ailment also is a common cause of heat prostration in children due to disturbance of the sweat glands. Death usually occurs by age 12.

Dr. Bessman told a reporter that the disease has been estimated to occur in from 1 in 500 to 1 in 1,000 births, but that it may be up to five times more prevalent than is commonly believed.

And he declared it is frequently misdiagnosed as bronchial asthma or chronic diarrhea.

Up to now, he said, diagnosis has involved such things as inserting tubes into the digestive passages, or making "complex" tests of sweat—and all such procedures are time-consuming and require special equipment.

The new "saliva salt test," he said, takes only a few minutes and can be done in any laboratory.

The doctor said dietary and drug treatments developed in recent years have prolonged lives in these cases. He added that the new diagnostic test—by allowing quick recognition and perhaps greatly increasing the number of cases brought to study—might enhance the value of present treatments and even lead to a specific cure.

DEPARTMENT STORE BURNS

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP)—Damage was estimated between $40,000 and $100,000 in a fire that last night swept through the Union Department Store here.

The lower estimate came from a store employee, while the higher figure was given unofficially by the Morrow County sheriff's office.

The fire of unknown origin apparently started in the Union's grocery store in the basement of the two-story brick structure. Flames spread to the department store on the first floor. A furniture store and two offices in the same building were not damaged.

'Other Man', Dies 10 Days After Beating

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 33-year-old truck driver, who beat a 59-year-old salesman he says he found in a compromising situation with his wife, will be charged today with murder, police said.

The salesman, Victor D. Lukanovic of Columbus, Ohio, died yesterday in city hospital 10 days after the beating.

Police Capt. David E. Kerr said he would seek a murder warrant against the truck driver, Louis W. Taylor, who is 6 feet, 1 inch tall, and weighs 195 pounds.

Taylor said in a signed statement he was sleeping in a back bedroom when he was awakened by noises in the living room of his Cleveland apartment.

He went into the living room and switched on the lights to find his wife, Grace, 37, and Lukanovic lying partially disrobed on the sofa, Taylor said.

After an argument and fist fight, Taylor said he threw Lukanovic and his clothing out.

Mrs. Taylor, who said she tried to separate the two men, received a broken jaw and broken ribs in the row. She was released from the hospital yesterday. The Taylors' two sons, aged 8 and 9, slept through the fight.

Lukanovic's wife, Marie, a stenographer in the Ohio Senate at Columbus, came to Cleveland and stayed at her husband's bedside until his death.

INJURED IN FALL

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lawrence Wolfe, 12, of Cleveland, was seriously injured yesterday when he fell 75 feet from a railroad trestle.

Down On The Farm

Diversion Plan Works
H. D. Mullins, soil conservationist for the Columbiana Soil Conservation District, found many changes on the John Chaney farm, Rogers RD 1, while working on a systematic follow-up of older plans for the soil service.

The plan on Chaney's farm, located in Middleton Township, was developed in 1952. Before the plan was started, the fields on the Chaney farm were in dire need of water and oil control.

One field in particular, Mullins recalls, was growing wild with small elm trees due to a wet condition. To offset this condition, a large diversion was constructed above the field to divert the water to a grass waterway. Today Chaney has a highly productive field of grain instead of elm trees.

Although he has farmed a number of years, Chaney said he was unsuccessful in conquering the wet field until he obtained the aid of the soil service. The secret to farming success, he says, is: "Apply plenty of lime and fertilizer, rotate crops wisely and work hard."
